

LOCHGILPHEAD PROFILE

May 2014

INTRODUCTION

The Lochgilphead profile uses 2011 Census data and other available data sources to present an up-to-date analysis of its population and labour market.

The analysis is structured under the thematic headings of:

- Population.
- Labour market.
- Education and qualifications.
- Health and wellbeing.
- Ethnicity and migration.

To help contextualise the 2011 findings, the area profile includes corresponding figures where available for:

- Argyll and the Islands, the Highlands and Islands area and Scotland as a whole.
- The 2001 Census, to show how Lochgilphead has changed over the last 10 years.

The profile has been constructed using best fit data zones – and a map illustrating the specific datazones used is provided at the end of the profile.

HEADLINE FINDINGS

The headline findings for Lochgilphead are:

- Total population was 3,825 in 2011, an increase of 3.2 per cent from 2001.
 - By industry of employment, a higher share of employment in construction, public administration and defence, and health and social work than the Highlands and Islands and Scotland.
 - By occupation, a higher share of employment in caring, leisure and other services, and sales and customer services than the Highlands and Islands and Scotland.
 - Unemployment rates that have increased to above the Argyll and the Islands, Highlands and Islands and Scotland rates. The annualised Jobseekers Allowance claimant count rate in 2013 was 4.0 per cent in Lochgilphead, 3.2 per cent in Argyll and the Islands, 2.4 per cent in Highlands and Islands and 3.7 per cent across Scotland.
 - A smaller proportion of the adult population with no qualifications compared to Argyll and the Islands, the Highlands and Islands and Scotland, and more qualified with degree-level qualifications.

POPULATION

In 2011, Lochgilphead had a total population of 3,825. This was an increase of 3.2 per cent from 2001 and, while lower than the Highlands and Islands (7.5 per cent) and Scotland (4.6 per cent) percentage increases, the increase was in contrast to the 2.1 per cent population decrease across Argyll and the Islands (see Figure 1).

LABOUR MARKET

The labour market data available at the settlement level provides an analysis of the resident population. It has been structured under the sub-headings of:

- Economically active
- In employment
- Unemployment
- Economically inactive

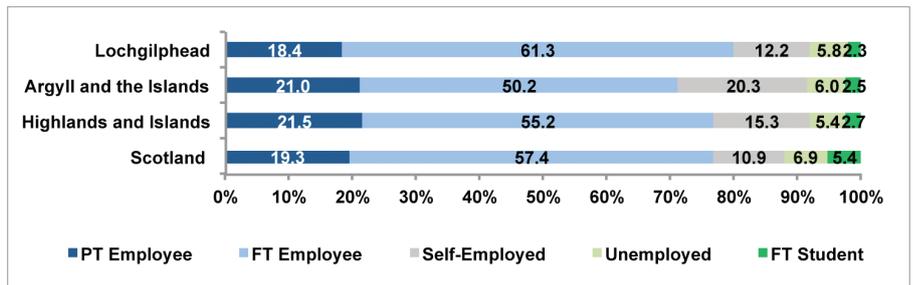

ECONOMICALLY ACTIVE

In 2011, some 72.3 per cent of the Lochgilphead population aged 16 to 74 were economically active. This was above the rates for Argyll and the Islands (67.9 per cent), the Highlands and Islands (71.3 per cent) and Scotland rate (69.0 per cent).

Figure 4 provides a breakdown of the economically active population in terms of their employment status. Compared to Argyll and the Islands, Lochgilphead had proportionately:

- More in full-time employment.
- Fewer in self-employment and part-time employment.

IN EMPLOYMENT

For those in employment, the Census provides information on the industry of employment, type of occupation and the number of hours worked per week.

By industry of employment in 2011, Figure 5 shows that compared to the Highlands and Islands and Scotland, Lochgilphead had:

- A higher share of employment in construction, public administration and defence, and health and social work.
- A lower share of employment in manufacturing, wholesale and retail, professional, scientific and technical, and education.

By occupation of employment, Figure 6 presents the share of 2011 employment by occupation and shows that, relative to the Highlands and Islands and Scotland, Lochgilphead had:

- A higher share of employment in caring, leisure and other services and sales and elementary occupations.
- A lower share of employment in associate professional and technical occupations, and sales and customer service occupations.

HOURS WORKED

By hours worked, the 2011 Census finds that working more than 49 hours per week was less common in Lochgilphead (11.6 per cent) than across Argyll and the Islands (17.0 per cent) and the Highlands and Islands (16.1 per cent), but in line with Scotland (11.7 per cent).

UNEMPLOYMENT

Jobseekers Allowance (JSA) Claimant Count data has been used to analyse unemployment levels. Figure 7 shows the annualised Claimant Count rate from 2005 to 2013.

- Lochgilphead had a Claimant Count rate that was below the Argyll and the Islands and Scotland rates but above the Highlands and Islands rate. However, since 2012 Lochgilphead's rate has increased sharply and is now higher than the three comparator area rates.
- In 2013, the Lochgilphead Claimant Count rate was 4.0 per cent; Argyll and the Islands 3.2 per cent; the Highlands and Islands 2.4 per cent; and Scotland 3.7 per cent.

Figure 8 presents annualised Claimant Count data by gender, age and duration of claim for 2013. It shows:

- The male Claimant Count rate in Lochgilphead (5.1 per cent) was almost double the female rate (2.8 per cent), which was in line with the Highlands and Islands and Scotland differential. For Argyll and the Islands the male rate was three times higher.
- The 16-24 year old Claimant Count in Lochgilphead (4.6 per cent) was below the Argyll and the Islands and Scotland rates, but above the Highlands and Islands rate.
- Amongst 25-64 year olds the Lochgilphead Claimant Count rate (3.3 per cent) was higher than Argyll and the Islands and the Highlands and Islands, but the same as the Scotland rate.

ECONOMICALLY INACTIVE

In 2011, some 27.7 per cent of Lochgilphead 16 to 74 year olds were economically inactive, compared with 32.1 per cent across Argyll and the Islands, 28.7 per cent across the Highlands and Islands and 31.0 per cent across Scotland.

Figure 9 provides a breakdown of the economically inactive population aged 16-74. Compared to Argyll and the Islands, Lochgilphead had proportionately:

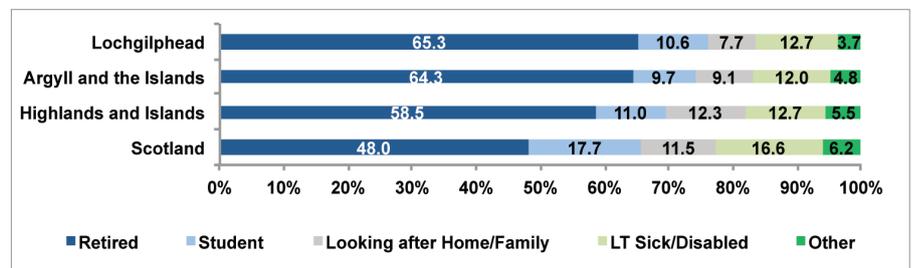

- More who were retired.
- Fewer who were looking after home or family.

OUT OF WORK BENEFITS

Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) out of work benefits claimant data provides more recent information on working age out-of-work benefits claimants, of which many are economically inactive. In May 2013:

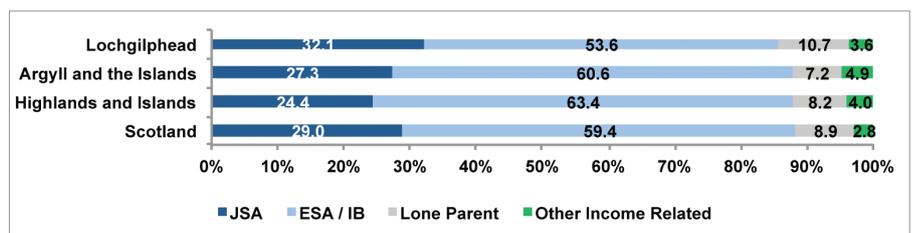

- There were 280 people aged 16 to 64 years old in Lochgilphead claiming out-of-work benefits.
- This equates to 13.3 per cent of the working age population, which is above the rates for Argyll and the Islands (11.3 per cent), the Highlands and Islands (9.2 per cent) and Scotland (12.9 per cent).
- Figure 10 shows the breakdown of out-of-work benefit claimants by statistical group.

 Level 4 = Degree, Postgraduate qualifications, SVQ Level 5 or equivalent.

HEALTH AND WELLBEING

Health and wellbeing are key contributors to an individual's economic activity. The main health statistics from the 2011 Census are outlined below.

- On perception of general health, some 82.3 per cent of the Lochgilphead population stated that their health was 'very good' or 'good'. This was in line with the rates for Argyll and the Islands (81.1 per cent), the Highlands and Islands (83.8 per cent) and Scotland (82.2 per cent).
- Some 18.8 per cent of the Lochgilphead population reported a limiting long-term illness or health problem that affected their day-to-day activities. This was below the rate for Argyll and the Islands (21.7 per cent) and in line with the Highlands and Islands (18.9 per cent) and Scotland (19.6 per cent).
- Some 8.4 per cent of the Lochgilphead population provided unpaid care on a weekly basis. This was below the rates for Argyll and the Islands (10.1 per cent), the Highlands and Islands (9.1 per cent) and Scotland (9.3 per cent).

ETHNICITY AND MIGRATION

The Lochgilphead profile concludes with the ethnicity and migration statistics from the 2011 Census. They show that:

- Some 98.8 per cent of the Lochgilphead population were 'white'. This was in line with the proportions for Argyll and the Islands (98.9 per cent) and the Highlands and Islands (98.8 per cent) but above the Scotland proportion of 96.0 per cent.
- Of the 'white' population in Lochgilphead, some 87.8 per cent were 'white Scottish', which was higher than the Argyll and the Islands (81.8 per cent) and Highlands and Islands proportions (81.0 per cent). These wider geographic areas had 14.7 per cent and 15.4 per cent respectively defining themselves as 'white British'.
- Some 3.7 per cent of the Lochgilphead population were born outside of the UK. This was below the proportions across Argyll and the Islands (4.9 per cent), the Highlands and Islands (5.2 per cent) and Scotland (7.0 per cent).
